ORDER

In his objections, Plaintiff asserts that he filed a formal grievance on October 25, 2012, and that he received an initial response from the Warden on November 5, 2012, stating that the grievance was being forwarded to “internal investigations” for review. (Doc. no. 9, pp. 1-2.) Thus, Plaintiff states that he did not appeal before filing his complaint because his formal grievance had not yet been denied. As the Magistrate Judge noted in the R&R, however,

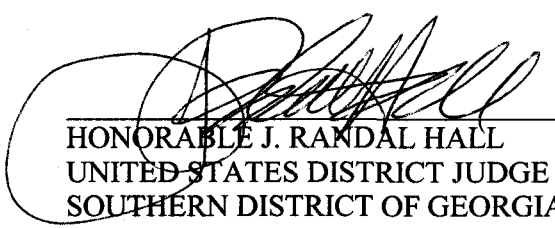

¹Plaintiff submitted two letters in response to the R&R, one to the Clerk of Court and the other to the Magistrate Judge, which the Court liberally construes as objections. (Doc. no. 9.)

because exhaustion of administrative remedies is a "precondition" to filing an action in federal court, Plaintiff had to complete the entire administrative grievance procedure before initiating this suit. Higginbottom v. Carter, 223 F.3d 1259, 1261 (11th Cir. 2000) (per curiam); see also Miller v. Tanner, 196 F.3d 1190, 1193 (11th Cir. 1999).²

Here, the Magistrate Judge correctly concluded that it was apparent from Plaintiff's original complaint that he had not completed the administrative process. With his objections, Plaintiff has only made that lack of exhaustion more plain, by stating that he filed his complaint on November 1, 2012, four days before he received an initial response to his formal grievance from the Warden.³ Plaintiff has therefore provided no basis for departing from the Magistrate Judge's conclusion that Plaintiff failed to satisfy the exhaustion requirement of 42 U.S.C. § 1997e(a), and his objections are OVERRULED.

Accordingly, the Report and Recommendation of the Magistrate Judge is ADOPTED as the opinion of the Court. Therefore, this case is DISMISSED without prejudice for failure to exhaust administrative remedies, and this civil action shall be CLOSED.

SO ORDERED this 24th day of January, 2013, at Augusta, Georgia.

HONORABLE J. RANDAL HALL
UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF GEORGIA

²Other federal circuits have similarly held that the PLRA does not allow a plaintiff to exhaust administrative remedies while his case is pending. See McKinney v. Carey, 311 F.3d 1198, 1200 (9th Cir. 2002); Medina-Claudio v. Rodriguez-Mateo, 292 F.3d 31, 36 (1st Cir. 2002); Jackson v. Dist. of Columbia, 254 F.3d 262, 269 (D.C. Cir. 2001); Freeman v. Francis, 196 F.3d 641, 645 (6th Cir. 1999); Perez v. Wisconsin Dep't of Corr., 182 F.3d 532, 538 (7th Cir. 1999).

³Indeed, Plaintiff states in his objections that he has still not received a final response to his formal grievance, let alone appealed that response to the highest level possible, the Office of the Commissioner. (See doc. no. 9.)
